PROUDLY BROUGHT TO YOU BY

“The World’s Largest Cornish Festival”

Throughout the last 36 years Kernewek Lowender has grown into one of South Australia’s largest and most popular regional festivals. The seven day celebration attracts crowds in excess of 30,000 people to the Copper Coast towns of Kadina, Moonta and Wallaroo on the Yorke Peninsula.

A celebration of Cornish cultural heritage forms the backbone of the Festival, as the Copper Coast was once home to thousands of Cornish miners and their families. Traditional Cornish language, dress, song and foods are what make the Kernewek Lowender an experience like none other.

All effort has been made to ensure the program reflects the events correctly.
